Message from CEO, Kelly Koh

September 2023 is going down in history as a month for breakthroughs!

Ngee Ann Academy collaborated with King's College London to launch the Master of Science in Clinical Nursing for nurses who wish to expand their careers and also to raise the bar for nursing in Singapore, with its inaugural intake in September.

Our partnership with King's College London has grown from strength to strength and we are delighted to offer a second degree in nursing with the internationally renowned university. King's is #1 in the UK and #2 in the world for nursing, according to the QS World University Rankings by Subject 2023.

When the green light was received from the Committee for Private Education, we had worked tirelessly round the clock to bring the master's programme to all SNB registered nurses as fast as we could. To encourage enrolment, we have also introduced an exclusive 10% incentive for King's alumni members who wish to enrol in the master's programme.

The partnership not only benefits the nursing community in Singapore but also demonstrates our commitment to provide a high-quality education and continuous training to nursing professionals and bring about transformative improvements in nursing standards to enhance patient safety and the quality of care.

Dr Julia Philippou, the Associate Dean for Postgraduate Taught Studies and Workforce Development at the Florence Nightingale Faculty of Nursing, Midwifery and Palliative Care, King's College London, very accurately points out that when nurses embark on a journey of professional development, the advantages also extend beyond their individual careers, "When patients are cared for by knowledgeable and highly skilled nurses, they receive quality care that leads to improved health outcomes."

I would like to take this opportunity to reach out to all aspiring nurses to grab this opportunity to pursue the prestigious 24-month, part-time master's degree in Singapore.

Cheers to the fabulous partnership with King's College London and the many wonders that we'll be bringing to nursing in the next five years!

Warm wishes,
Kelly

LATEST NEWS & UPDATES

TAN TOCK SENG HOSPITAL EDUCATION FAIR

We are thrilled to share an exciting update from Ngee Ann Academy (NAA)! On 6th & 7th July 2023, NAA participated in the Tan Tock Seng Hospital (TTSH) Education Fair held at Ng Teng Fong Centre for Healthcare Innovation.

We shared details on our Bachelor of Science in Nursing with Honours (Top-up) degree programme that is offered by King's College London. A special highlight was the presence of our NAA scholars working at TTSH, who shared their personal journeys & insightful perspectives. Special thanks to our NAA scholarship recipients, Jocelyn Chua, Chun Kai Qin & Choong Pei Wen.

NGEE ANN POLYTECHNIC EDUCATION & CAREER FAIR

On 10th August, NAA participated in another roadshow, the Ngee Ann Polytechnic Education & Career Fair 2023. We had the opportunity to speak with nursing students who wanted to take their academic pursuits to the next level. It was our honour to engage in meaningful conversations with them. Our Programme Advisor also shared information via a presentation with many Year Three nursing students on the need to upskill and enhance patient safety and the quality of care.

NETWORKING SESSION FOR THE UNIVERSITY OF ADELAIDE MBA ALUMNI

The University of Adelaide MBA alumni, many of whom studied at NAA (or NAAEC before 2018) came together for a wonderful evening of networking and reconnecting with peers and University and NAA staff at the Singapore MBA Alumni Reception held at the InterContinental Singapore on the evening of 31 August 2023.

Professor Noel Lindsay (Dean Adelaide Business School and Pro-Vice Chancellor Entrepreneurship), Associate Professor Gary Bowman (Director Adelaide MBA), and Mr Kelly Koh (CEO NAA), were some of the people present to welcome the various cohorts of alumni, who had a good time renewing old ties and making new connections too.

The evening also featured special guest speaker Ms Susanna Hasenoehrl, SAP's Head of Sustainability in Asia Pacific and Japan. Susanna's extensive experience consulting on sustainable business and climate change was evident as she engaged the audience with an interesting talk on 'Digital Technologies as Sustainability Enablers'.

LIFE AS AN NAA STUDENT

INTRODUCING THE NEW MASTER OF SCIENCE IN CLINICAL NURSING

Here's a piece of good news for you.

Ngee Ann Academy (NAA) and King's College London have launched a prestigious master's programme for nursing and its inaugural intake is in September this year.

Known as the Master of Science (MSc) in Clinical Nursing, the programme provides a flexible and adaptive framework for Singapore Nursing Board (SNB) registered nurses to scale up in their nursing career and build exemplary skills in managing and leading contemporary health care practice, research and education in global healthcare settings.

The teaching will be delivered in a blended learning approach combining some classroom-based sessions at Ngee Ann Academy and online sessions through the King's e-Learning and Teaching Services (KEATS) platform. Comprising five modules (3 Core and 2 Electives), the Master of Science in Clinical Nursing is a two-year, part-time programme that is taught and awarded by King's College London.

ALUMNI INCENTIVE

As King's alumni members in nursing, NAA is giving you an exclusive 10% incentive when you sign on to the Master of Science in Clinical Nursing programme. Find out more details here.
